BUILDING CANADA STRONG

Over the past year, it has been an honour to represent you on Parliament Hill in Ottawa. Since day one, I've been focused on the priorities that matter most to our community: making life more affordable, tackling the housing shortage, investing in the infrastructure our neighbourhoods rely on, and supporting good-paying Canadian jobs that strengthen our economy.

Together, we've taken action to put more money back in Canadians' pockets, get more homes built faster, improve transit and community infrastructure, and ensure federal investments reach the places that need them most—including right here in Vancouver Fraserview—South Burnaby.

While we've made important progress, there's more to do. I'm committed to continuing to deliver practical results that make life more affordable, strengthen our communities, and build a more prosperous future for every individual and family.

MAKING LIFE MORE AFFORDABLE

Canada's new government has a clear mandate: to build a stronger, more competitive, and more affordable Canada.

We're cutting costs on essentials, getting homes built faster, investing in infrastructure and the services families rely on. Our government is also making sure more Canadians can access the benefits and tax relief that help their hard-earned money go further every month.

Bringing Down Costs

- The Spring Economic Update proposes changes to make it easier to apply for the Disability Tax Credit helping tens of thousands more Canadians access the credit and the federal benefits it unlocks.
- Our government suspended the full amount of the tax on gasoline and diesel until September 7, 2026 to bring down costs for Canadians.
- The National Food Program has been made permanent providing up to 400,000 children with meals at school annually, helping families save an average of $800 per year.

Helping Families Get Ahead

We are taking action to make life more affordable for Canadians. The new Canada Groceries and Essentials Benefit will provide support to more than 12 million Canadians by putting more money back in their pockets:

- A 25% increase to the former GST Credit this year and a one-time payment equal to a 50% increase, issued on June 5.
  - Up to $1,890 this year for a family of four, with approximately $1,400 annually for the next four years.
  - Up to $950 this year for single individuals, with approximately $700 annually for the next four years.
